

October

Common Causes of Forklift Injuries

The leading causes of workplace injuries involving the use of a forklift include, insufficient training, unsafe driving and the fall of materials.

As according to WSIB since 2003, there has been a total of 18 forklift related deaths, primarily being tipping. Proving that it is important when working with this dangerous machine to be properly taught on safety procedures and ensure no defects are present.

Bullivants & Associates Inc.

35 King Street East
Stoney Creek, Ontario
L8G 5E6

T: (905) 664- 4943

F: (905) 664-2553

Contact Deanna
dbreukelman@bullivant.ca

Register via email, phone or website

Bullivant & Associates Inc.

Your Health & Safety Partners

How We Can Help

We are able to help ensure your due diligence under Occupational Health and Safety Administration with our Forklift Safety training. Your employees will learn and understand their rights, roles and responsibilities in the workplace.

Our training is customized or created to specifically address your current equipment and needs, guaranteeing the best results.

Course content includes the following,

- Legislation
- Competense
- Training/ Retraining Requirements
- Classifications of Industrial Vehicles
- Statistical Data re: accidents/fatalities
- Causes of Accidents
- Prevention

INJURED?

Our staff of Occupational Health Professionals can:

- Create a formalized written Early & Safe Return Program
- Identify appropriate modified work/duties
- Monitor all injured worker on their road to recovery
- Liase with the injured worker, employer, the WSIB and medical doctors.

BE PREPARED

MOL Blitz targets Industrial Sector on Forklifts in February 2012

